Town To Spend $56,000 On School

Honors Won By District Pupils

LAC LA BICHE — Out of a total of 32 students who wrote the Grade IX departmental examinations at Lac la Biche, 27 passed and received their diplomas.

Of the 25 students who were attempting to complete Grade XII, 16 earned their diplomas, and of these six qualified for University entrance by attaining an average of 60% or better.

Out of a total of 148 subjects written, the standings were as follows: H—7; A—23; B—62; C—39; D—17. The percentage of subjects for which a "B" or better standing was awarded was 62.

Grade XII examinations are a province-wide competition. In each subject the lowest 15% are graded "D"; the next 25% "C"; 35% "B"; 20% "A", and only 5% "H". Thus it will be seen that for the province the percentage of subjects written which are awarded a "B" or better standing is 60.

For Grade IX the formula is slightly different. The percentages in the various categories in the order given above are 10, 20, 35, 25, and 10 respectively.

Students who earned "Honors" standing were Olga Mischuk in Grade IX and Marilyn McMillan in Grade XII. A program will be held at a date to be announced later for presentation of awards.

LAC STE. ANNE and Lac la Biche district residents will recognize this young couple who are vacationing in northern Alberta. Henry Ritter, recently posted to the RCAF station south of Moose Jaw, Sask., after four years at a Canadian radar post in Virginia, is pictured with his wife, Catherine, and their daughter, Carol Jean. Pilgrimage To Blueberryland

OWL RIVER—Approximately 20 cars and trucks crossed the Owl River bridge Sunday, August 23, on their annual pilgrimage north into blue-berry country.

The blueberries are lovely this year but the continued rain of the past week and the condition of the roads will stop people from going to seek them.

It is reported there are many cranberries this year also. These may be found on the jackpine ridges bordering the Forestry road going north, after crossing the Owl River bridge.

COUNTY OF ATHABASCA

Council Hears Road Complaints School Meeting Days Arranged

The August meeting of the county of Athabasca was held Aug. 14, following the school committee meeting on August 13. Decision to hold the school committee meeting on the second Thursday of each month, followed by the county meeting on the Friday, was made at the meeting held August 4.

A delegation approached the council regarding roads in the Twin Spruce area. John Fedun and J. Gilowski, from Frains, asked that something be done to the roads. A little work was promised: to fill the bad mud holes and to clean out the ditches.

Most of the afternoon was mainly routine including welfare cases and discussion of public works. Salesmen from several machine companies interviewed the council, but no action was taken.

A letter from PFA was read and the county applied. This must be done before September 15 in case of need arising.

Several rents and sales of property were discussed, one tabled and two sold; one assignment was approved.

A bylaw was passed to set the speed limit at Baptiste Lake and Skeleton Lake at 25 miles per hour.

The county council accepted the recommendation of the school committee in selling some school buses and holding others.

A committee was appointed to prepare a list of school surpluses in view of advertising them for sale.

Bills were approved and ordered paid.

S. Odynad Named Superintendent

LAC LA BICHE — Steve Odynak, B.A., has taken over his duties as superintendent of the Lac la Biche school division, succeeding G. Filipchuk who was transferred to Lamont.

Born and raised at Smoky Lake, after comp'eting his high school education there, Mr. Cdynak trained at the University of Alberta. He has had 10 years of teaching in several schools, having been principal at Willingdon for the past two years and prior to that was principal at Chauvin. Mr. Odynak is presently working on a thesis for his M.A. degree. His wife is the former Emily Semeluk of Vilna and they have two small boys, Percy, 3 years of age, and David, just a few weeks old.

Mr. Odynak is interested in hunting, fishing, hockey and baseball, having been an enthusiastic participant in the two latter sports until the past few years.

The superintendent, who is keenly interested in the north, is looking forward to his trips there in his official capacity.

Seven Building Permits Aprroved, Stray Dogs To Be Impounded

LAC LA BICHE — At last week's meeting of the town council, seven building permits were approved, ranging from alterations to a dwelling house, to a $56,000 extension to the elementary school.

Additions and alterations to existing dwellings accounted for five of the permits and were for amounts of from $350.00 to $4,000.00 each. One permit was for an addition to the plant of Northland Utilities Ltd.

Work on the elementary school is well under way and the five additional class rooms being built should be completed sometime this fall.

A delegation of irate citizens was present to ask that action be taken to control dogs running at large. Members of the delegation told of dogs destroying lawns, gardens and shrubs, and on different occasions when children had been bitten by cross dogs. They complained that these conditions had been reported from time to time but the situation did not show any improvement. The general feeling among the delegation was that the town's by-laws concerning dogs were either inadequate or were not being properly enforced. For the information of those present the mayor read By-law No. 103 relating to dogs. The by-law was passed in 1938, and, although it is a lengthy document, some felt that it is now out of date, and while the nature of the dogs may not have changed much in 21 years, the likes and dislikes of the townspeople may have undergone some changes in that time. Some felt that the license fees of $1.50 for males and $3.00 for females were too high, others thought they were not high enough.

After considerable discussion the secretary was asked to prepare a new by-law prohibiting the running at large of dogs within the town. A dog pound is to be built, and dogs will be kept for 48 hours, then destroyed if not claimed. Impounding fee is to be $3.00.

Every dog may have his day, but the day of liberty for pooches in Lac la Biche seems to be coming to an end.

Fr. Louis Viel Assumes Duties

LAC LA BICHE — Father Louis Viel has taken over the duties of the St. Catherine's parish. Born at Mallaig, he was educated at St. John's College and St. Joseph's Seminary, Edmonton. He has held pastorates at St. Paul, Whitecourt and St. Lina previous to coming to Lac la Biche.

Buffalo, Moose Viewed At Park

VENICE — Mr. and Mrs. William and family motored to Elk Island Park where they spent an enjoyable day. On that ocasion they had the privilege of seeing buffalo and moose for the first time.

They later travelled to Vimy and Westlock to spend a few days visiting their daughter Mona and other relatives.

Venice Pair Tours U.S. And Canada

VENICE — Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rowland have returned from a motor trip through western United States and Canada in company with Mrs. Rowland's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Nordin of Edmonton.

While on their trip they stopped and scouted Jasper National Park, Lake Louise, Radium Hot Springs and Banff. The next stop was King's Gate, Idaho, the border between Canada and the United States.

The couples enjoyed camping and logging in motels. While travelling through the States they did some shopping and were amazed at the extremely low prices of merchandise. Spokane was found to be fascinating with its dingy taverns and beautiful flower gardens.

When touring British Columbia they were delighted by crossing a lake by a ferryboat which held 40 autos. The travellers returned home by way of Calgary and explored the new zoo and park.

Rudigers Honored At Farewell Party

LAC LA BICHE — Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Rudiger were guests of honor at a farewell party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tardiff recently. Some 30 friends presented them with several gifts.

The Rudigers are moving to Barrhead where Jimmie has accepted a position with the municipality as mechanic.

The French gave the name "Acadie" to the maritime section of New France. The origin of the name is still debated.

Royal Bank Head Blames New "Tight Money" On Out-Of-Joint Interest Rates

MONTREAL, P.Q.—Curtailment of credit and rationing of loans have been forced on the chartered banks by a combination of tight money and the six per cent ceiling on chartered banks' lending rates, according to James Muir, chairman and president of The Royal Bank of Canada.

As the result of an interview, Mr. Muir made the following informal statement:

"It is clear from comments arising from some quarters and from articles appearing in certain papers that the statement made by the chartered banks relative to the present tight money situation is widely misunderstood.

"As far as we are aware, neither the Canadian Bankers' Association nor any of its member banks have sought to increase bank earnings by asking for a rise in the legal maximum rate of interest, viz. 6 per cent, which the banks may charge on loans. This is a point which cannot be emphasized too strongly.

EFFECT ON BANKS

"However, as the Canadian Bankers' Association statement intended to make clear, when the Bank of Canada's minimum lending rate rises above the legal maximum of 6 per cent which chartered banks are allowed to charge, the banks are no longer able—through no fault of theirs—to implement Bank of Canada monetary policy by further increasing the going rate at which customs may borrow.

"It must be made clear to everybody that the Bank of Canada and not the chartered banks controls the volume of money and credit within our country. It is the Bank of Canada which decides when money and credit should be increased, or tightened or left constant. The machinery which the Bank of Canada uses in order to carry out any given policy works through the chartered banks. For example, let us say the decision of the day is to make money easier — in these circumstances, the Bank of Canada increases the cash reserves of the chartered banks. This makes them flush and at such a time money becomes cleaner, i.e., the rate of interest is lower. This induces the the banks to loosen up their lending policy a situation which borrowers readily take advantage of, and so we have an expansion of business in almost every direction. ." Now let us examine what happens when a tight money policy comes into force, such as has been the case since last fall. The Bank of Canada decreases the cash reserves of the banks or holds them constant in the face of a growing demand from bank customers for more loans. The net effect is the same in either case. Money and credit grow scarcer and inevitably dearer, the yield on Government Treasury bills rises, the price of Government bonds drops, which increases the yield, the "bank rate" rises and, as part of the cycle the rate interest charged by the chartered banks to their customers has to go up. The higher bank rate is thus passed on to the public and this goes on and on until the cost of money to borrowers becomes unprofitable, at which point they start to trim their sails and so what might be called a period of restriction or a calming down takes place in the whole economy and a boom or an unhealthily active condition is gradually brought to a stop.

CURRENT SITUATION

" Now what is the Canadian picture at the moment? First, the Bank of Canada has pursued for months and is pursing a tight money policy in a battle against inflation. This policy has driven up interest rates to levels seldom, if ever, seen before, but—and here is the nub of the whole question—these interest rates have hit an impregnable barrier, as it were, in the shape of the legal lending rate established under The Bank Act. From this point on, quite obviously the banks are rendered impotent so far as being able to assist in implementing the Bank of Canada's monetary policy through the forces of increasing interest rates.

"In view of all that has been said, how have the banks been able to continue to meet their clients' demands for heavily increased loans since the inception of the tight money policy last fall? The answer is: Only by selling government bonds from their portfolios in order to raise cash and, in view of what we have said about the drop in the price of government bonds it requires no imagination to realize that this is a far from profitable process. However, the banks are, so far as we know, making no great complaint on this score. What we are concerned about is that common sense makes it clear that such a policy cannot continue indefinitely. Equally important, or perhaps even more important, the fact confronts bank management that there

WATINO WOMAN SAYS HISTORY DOES REPEAT ITSELF OFTEN

By Jessie Bresnahan

WATINO — History repeats itself as is proven in the gulls eating the brown moths which were devastating the trees, no doubt they were eating caterpillars, too, as they did in this particular case.

We were farming north of Tomkins, Saskatchewan. Such bumper crops we had for several years, then came the lean years and 1924 was one and for a time looked like a complete black out, between Russian Thistle, which thrives in drouth, and then the Army Worm, millions all over the place going at a slow gallop south-east in early morning and north-west at nightfall and in the meantime cleaning everything they hit.

How shall I ever forget their sticky little bodies plastered over every object at sundown where they rested until morning.

Suddenly we noticed, it was the Russian Thistle they were after, yes, every stalk of it stood out black, devested of its green.

It will be the grain next, mourned a groucher, when the thistles are done, they will finish the grain. So he thought, and many others.

One morning, my husband called me to come and see the fields, they were white. Yes sir, it looked like snow in July but it suddenly moved upwards, "gulls," we said in one breath. Gulls they were and were eating the army worms. Off they would go to a slough for a drink then back to the fields. Our fields were not the only ones, every farmer in that whole community had flocks on his fields, until every last worm was eaten. In three days time you wouldn't find a worm; also plenty of gwana to fertilize the fields.

Russian Thistle gone and some rain the crops made good recovery. I was telling a friend of mine in another province about this happening. "Well," she said, "if a kindly providence did those things for us, we'd get along too."

How strongly it reminds me of II Chronicles, Chapter 7, verses 13 and 14. Look that up and see what I mean.

Bernie Payne Wins Efficiency Award

World Travellers Visit Two Hills

TWO HILLS — Mr. and Mrs. Crane of Australia left here recently to continue their trip around the world. They are at present in New York and will sail to England where they plan to spend two months touring the British Isles. From there they will travel to Europe and expect to be back home before the year is ended.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane like Canada and hope to return some time again. Their only child, Heather, is Mrs. James Turner who has been a resident of Two Hills for over a year. The Cranes journeyed to Canada to visit the Turners.

Chinese Ducks Roost In Trees

SMOKY LAKE — It is not often that farmers want to bother with side-line poultry for home or commercial use or as pets. But Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kucharsky of this district raise the rather rare Chinese ducks as a farm novelty. These birds are beautiful when alive and also provide good roast for the dinner table.

Chinese ducks have peculiar beaks and their feathers are of a mystic blended color. The humorous but true habits of these ducks are that they don't care to wade in the water ponds at all like other normal ducks. Instead they climb trees and roost among the branches with the other farm chickens.

COUNTY OF THORHILD

School Committee Asks More Gravel, Concrete Sidewalks For Schools

THORHILD — The School Committee of the County me here on Tuesday, August 18th, with the following members present.

The Committee discussed improvement to school yards since gravel is required to improve loading and unloading of children near the schools. Sidewalks are required at Redwater School.

Gravel is also required at Newbrook School. The Committee will recommend that Council hire Acme Construction of Redwater to build approx. 400 feet of 4-foot sidewalks at Redwater Schools at 39 cents per square foot with Peter Chaba in charge.

The Committee appointed Henry Golan acting principal of Radway School as from September 1, 1959.

Heavy Rain Slows Haying Activities

TWO HILLS — Heavy continued rains have held up the haying on the flats at this point. Crops are starting to lodge and it will be necessary for the farmers to have dry weather to take them off.

Waskatenau Men In Competition

WASKATENAU — Four members of the Waskatenau Volunteer Fire Department entered in the hose competition which was held at Vegreville on Aug. 19 for northeastern Alberta.

Their timing was 40 4/5 seconds.

Mundare UCWL Records Busy Year; Buy Cardiograph For Hospital

MUNDARE — One of the most active and busiest organizations in the Town of Mundare is the Ukrainian Catholic Women's League under the leadership of Mrs. Strilchuk.

Although there are no meetings during the summer months, the League has been very active throughout the winter and have achieved a number of outstanding contributions to the life of the Community and to the service of the Church.

BUYS CARDIOGRAPH

One of the most outstanding achievements of the UCWL has been the purchase and presentation of an Electro-Cardiograph Machine to the Mundare General Hospital. This project alone, represents the top achievement of the ladies for it represented many hours of work and many functions held to raise the necessary funds for the machine.

OTHER WORK

Besides purchasing the Cardiograph machine, the UCWL have the honor of taking first prize for embroidery work done by a Ukrainian Catholic Women's group at the tea held by the UCWL in Edmonton at the Hudson's Bay Auditorium. The work for the prize winning exhibit was done by Mrs. Malko.

Also, during the year, the ladies found time to take part in the annual convass on behalf of the Cancer Association and here they again heaped glory on themselves when they collected $220 for the Cancer Fund.

Besides canvassing and other things, the ladies sponsored the upkeep of the Ukrainian School for the children. Here the children are taught their parents' native language as well as the customs of the Old Land. The classes are held twice a week and last for half an hour.

There are about 30 children taking instruction during the School. The teaching was done by Sister Mary of the Mundare School Staff and by one of the priests in the Town.

HELP FIRE VICTIMS

When the Novak Family lost their home and all their possessions by fire, the UCWL helped to gather things for the family. The ladies held showers for household goods etc.

The Ladies held a series of teas to help raise money for the Basilian Fathers' Museum, which the ladies have undertaken to keep up in first class order.

The annual First Communion Breakfast children communicants and their parents is another of the services rendered the Church by this hard-working group.

They have also catered to the dinner held to end the rally of the Ukrainian Catholic Youth Group.

The UCWL has a membership of 70 women and each of them is a hard working member of the Group.

Mrs. Strilchuk says that the ladies are looking forward to another busy year when they resume meetings in September.

Willingdon Farm Scene Of Reunion

WILLINGDON — Visitors at the William T. Kokotailo farm recently were Mr. Kokotailo's four borthers: Steve and Andy from Vancouver; John of Regina who is chief electrical engineer for the province of Saskatchewan, and George from New Jersey.

J. Before returning home to New Jersey he attended an X-ray conference in Estes Park, Colorado.

All four brothers had returned to Alberta to visit their father, T. Kokotailo, in Edmonton.

Bezalkos Honored On Silver Wedding

DERWENT — Relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at King George Hall to honor Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bezpalko on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Master of ceremonies was Bill Bezpalko. All speakers wished the honored guests continued happiness while the main speaker, Rev. Fr. Supper and dancing concluded the happy celebration.

Town Constable To Move Into Town Soon

VILNA—Mr. and Mrs. P. David are hoping to move to town soon. Mr. David is the town constable and maintenance man. He has been working in town and driving home when possible. Mrs. David is a teacher in the town school and has been staying on the farm during vacation.

Wm. Greckay Named Justice Of Peace

VILNA—It is interesting to note that William Grechal has been appointed our new justice of the peace at a recent council meeting. Mr. Grechal is the postmaster.

Mundare Hotel A Family Affair; Owners Are Of Pioneer Families

MUNDARE—The hotel at Mundare is a unique one indeed for it is a family business venture. The hotel is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laibida and the management of the business is under the direction of their son-in-law Mr. Frank Daskewech, whose wife helps her mother in the dining room and with the housekeeping tasks connected with the hotel.

Mrs. Laibida was born in Mundare of pioneer parents who came to the district in 1901 from the Old Country. Her maiden name was Horyn. Her parents came to Mundare and started farming 7 miles from town and then came into town to live.

Mr. Laibida came to Mundare with his parents when he was only a tiny baby in 1901. When his parents came to the district there were very few horses or anything else around the settlement.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Laibida have grown up in the district and have seen it grow and seen both lean and prosperous times for the farmers and to show their faith in the district, have remained and opened a hotel business.

They have been in the hotel business for some eight years and seem likely to remain so for quite some time.

Invisible Zippers—are found on many garments now in the stores. The metal hooks of the zipper are folded inward drawing the fabric together but keeping the metallic part beneath. When closed it looks like a seam.

Velcro Closures—are adjustable, comprising two nylon tapes. One has a velvety pile, the other, thousands of tiny loop-like burrs. When these two are pressed together, they cling as though magnetized. Peeled apart they separate easily as the springy hooks lose their grip and makes a noise similar to ripping cloth. They are being used on all but very fine garments. They are especially suitable for children's clothes.

Breeze Weight Pellon — light weight quality 37" width—also at Silk-O-Lina for $1.19 per yard.

Non-Run Top and Toe Hosiery—made by the Corticelli Co. Have a written guarantee that runs starting in the top or toe will not enter the leg area. If this happens the purchaser is entitled to a new pair free.

Lasticare—is a new cold water shampoo for elasticized fabrics. It is recommended for foundation garments and swimsuits because it removes natural body oils. These tend to be retained under normal washing procedures.

NEW FABRICS AND FINISHES

Belfast Self-Ironing Finish—in both yard goods and dresses are featured by Eatons. The manufacturers claim that their fabrics may be washed by hand, by automatic machine, and spin drier or by commercial laundries without the loss of self ironing properties. The fabric retails at $1.69 a yard and ladies daytime dresses at $10.95.

Dynameau—is a blend of 70% wool and 30% Dynel. Manufacturers claim it has machine washability, low shrinkage (3%), high strength, excellent press retention, soft hand and wrinkle resistance.

Blames New "Tight Money"

is a point below which they cannot allow their holdings of government bonds to drop and still preserve an adequate volume of liquid assets so that they will not depart from traditionally sound policies.

RATIONING OF LOANS

"At this point, so long as the money supply is not allowed to increase with the demand for loans, the chartered banks must resort to the curtailment of loans through the direct restriction (and rationing) of bank credit. This, of course, is a thankless task and, in the process, the chartered banks and not the monetary authorities appear to the general public as the ones responsible for all the hardships borne by those dependent on, but unable to get, a ready supply of bank credit.

"In other words, interest rate policy and control of the money supply are interdependent devices which the Central Bank may use to control bank credit. The first is inhibited, and at present rates made impotent, by the ceiling on chartered bank lending rates. The second is effective but places the onus of credit restriction unfairly on the chartered banks.

"The whole purpose of The Canadian Bankers' Association statement as I understand it, was simply to explain to the general public that the Bank of Canada, and not the chartered banks, is responsible for monetary policy and hence for the present curtailment of chartered bank loans."

PROMINENT AUTHOR SAYS:

You're A Few Drinks Near To Death When Dead Drunk

By Howard Whitman

PART 2 in the 12-part series on "OUR DRINKING HABITS" by one of the nation's outstanding writers on social problems.

Liquor is not a stimulant; it is a depressant. It does not wake you up; it puts you to sleep. But the first part of you which it depresses (or anesthetizes) is the cerebral cortex, the policeman of the brain. And so, for a time, until the rest of the brain is anesthetized, a little hell breaks loose. We call that "getting drunk". Alcohol is an anesthetic drug like ether or chloroform; it is chemically related to both. It might be used as a general anesthetic during surgery or tooth extraction, except that the amount it takes to banish consciousness (the point where the drinker "passes out") is too dangerously close to the point of death. Here's how alcohol works: It enters the stomach just as any other food does. And it is a food; it is loaded with calories. Absorption into the blood stream begins almost at once, through the tiny blood vessels which line the stomach wall. About a third of the alcohol is absorbed through the stomach; the remaining two-thirds sluices along into the small intestine and is similarly absorbed into the blood stream through the capillary lining.

Howard Whitman

WHY ACTION IS FAST

It is the only food which goes straight into the blood without digestion. That's why its action is (to borrow a phrase from TV) fast, fast, fast.

The blood stream carries the alcohol to the liver, and, if you are a very moderate drinker that's the end of it. The liver simply oxidizes the alcohol, burns it up as fuel for the body engine. But that's assuming you drink one mild high ball or one bottle of beer in an hour. Any more than that and the liver is overloaded; too much fuel for the engine.

Result: the excess alcohol overflows and is carried by the blood stream to every organ in the body. It hits the brain. And there's where the fun and/or trouble begin.

Remember, alcohol is an anesthetic, a depressant. Its first action is felt upon the most sensitive portion of the brain, the highly developed cortex. This is the most civilized portion of the brain, also the most troublesome. While its action is not precisely known, it is believed to be the seat of memory, conscience, judgment, as well as inhibitions, self-consciousness, and tensions.

TENSIONS SUBSIDE

Put the cortex to sleep and see what happens. Tensions subside. George feels suddenly relaxed. Self - consciousness evaporates. George talks to people, circulates, mixes, tells jokes with stentorian confidence.

Inhibitions slack off. George puts his arm around the boss's wife. This lad is having fun. For the first stage of alcoholic anesthesia has set in, and the first thing to be anesthetized is the policeman of the brain.

But memory also goes. George forgets he put a lighted cigarette on the edge of the piano. Responsibility disintegrates. The fact that the children are home and the sitter leaves at midnight means nothing anymore. Reasoning is shot. Whether it's politics, religion, or golf, George's best and virtually only argument now is, "Ish zat show? Wull let me tell you!"

Conscience is dead asleep. George gets a shocked titter out of Mrs. Gillespie by trying to manoeuver her into a parked car in the driveway.

CAUTION FOR THE BIRDS

Judgement vanishes. George is sure he can walk tightrope on the clothesline. Caution is for the birds. George tells the boss that old job isn't half as good as he thinks it is and the boss isn't half as good as he thinks he is and what's more good old George is twice as good as anybody thinks he is and what do you think of that—with your lousy hunert and tweny fie dollars a week!

Because of such behavior symptoms many get the wrong idea that alcohol is a stimulant, an excitant, that it wakes people up. None the less the process of putting them to sleep continues. Alcohol reaches the lower brain centers and speech thickens, coordination declines; the motor areas are affected and gait becomes unsteady.

WHEN THE FIRST stage of alcoholic anesthesia sets in, George feels relaxed. His self-consciousness evaporates. Inhibitions slacken off. He puts his arm around the boss' wife. He becomes careless, loud and boisterous.

Drowsiness sets in, malaise begins as the body fights to oxidize more alcohol than it can handle. Finally there is stupor; George passes out. Anesthesia is complete.

Many a drinker's life has been saved by passing out. For at this point his intake of alcohol is precariously close to the death limit. Only an ounce or so of alcohol spells the difference between dead drunk and dead.

HOW MANY ARE "SAFE"?

Generally two such drinks are considered "safe" The alcohol concentration in the blood will be about .05%. After two drinks the questionable area has been reached and at six drinks (three ounces of alcohol) George is at the danger point.

His blood alcohol is at .15%.

Suppose he keeps drinking? When he reaches .5% (20 drinks, 10 ounces of alcohol) he is dead drunk. And as little as two more drinks—just one more ounce of alcohol—might kill him.

Any concentration in the blood above .55% can be fatal. This means more than five-and-a-half drops of alcohol per thousand drops of blood. Then everything's anesthetized, heart and lungs included; life ceases.

Most people think straight drinks hit the hardest. They don't. Straight liquor is so strong that it even anesthetizes the absorption processes a little, hence delaying the alcoholic effect.

WEAK DRINK SLOW

But weak highballs are slow, too. Add five ounces of water to an ounce of whiskey and you get an 8 or 9% alcohol solution; sheer bulk slows down absorption.

The fastest absorption comes from 10 to 30% solutions: half-and - half highballs or that bullet-like potion known as "on the rocks with just an eensie weensie of water."

And don't laugh, but the soda helps make you drunk. Carbonation speeds up the process of absorption. Ever notice the hair-trigger action of champagne?

Even the cocktail toothpick can be a drinking hazard. The New York State Journal of Medicine has carried a warning that alcohol may anesthetize the lining of the mouth, the oral mucosa, and make the drinker insensitive to foreign objects. When he mouths a canape or a little weenie he may unawaredly ingest the toothpick along with it. Numerous cases have been reported.

A crowded room with little ventilation produces drunkness more quickly; there is less of the oxygen which the body needs to burn up alcohol, hence drinks pile up. Scarcity of oxygen similarly makes drinks more powerful in unpressurized airplances or in the mountains.

FOOD SLOWS IT DOWN

Of course, food in the stomach (especially milk, fat, and meat) slows the absorption of alcohol. But not fruit—this produces alcohol of its own during digestion and simply makes matters worse.

The drinker's dream, one might suppose, would be to reach that pleasant peak known as the "glow" —when tensions are quelled, anxieties relieved, and none of the mess of drunkenness has yet descended—and stay there. It is theoretically possible.

FEELS RELAXED

Dr. Marvin Block, chairman of the American Medical Association's Committee on Alcoholism, asserts, "The average man achieves an optimum stage when he has a shot glass or about an ounce of whiskey. At this point he feels relaxed and a few of his inhibitions are removed. The average human being can metabolize a half-ounce to an ounce of alcohol per hour. If this rate is maintained, the rosy feeling can be continued."

But the doctor hastens to add, "In an attempt to insure this feeling, many are inclined to take another drink before the last is completely burned up. When this happens, the drinker sometimes becomes a little careless, loud and boisterous . . . may see double and become incoherent and fumbling. He often staggers . . . "

And the blush is off the rose.

Northern Rivers

Hylo—How different Owl River seems to be from Wandering River as one gazes at them from the bridges.

Owl River flows ever so gently, is placid and peaceful and only an almost imperceptible ripple seems to disturb the serene waters. On either side of the river tall grass sways slightly in the breeze as the setting sun touches the river with gold. Dark and distinct are the silhouettes of the poplars. The faint chirping of a bird comes from the trees beyond. All is tranquil as night approaches.

Wandering river, on the other hand, rushes in a turmoil as it winds its way through the high-banked, densely - foliaged curves. The dark water churns and foams as it strikes the many obstructions. A muffled roar is heard as the waters roll over huge fallen trees and then whirl in a swift, dizzying vortex, to be hidden from view a short distance away. As night approaches the confusion seems to be even greater and the dark water more sinister as one hears the wind in the trees.

Venice

Tony Chimenello from Jasper was a guest of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fornari, recently.

ALBERTA TEACHERS RETURN FROM TOUR OF RCAF TRAINING CENTRES

Thirty-eight high school teachers and career counsellors from Alberta and southeastern B.C. left August 23 for a four-day tour of RCAF training stations in Ontario and Quebec, to become acquainted with training in the RCAF. This first hand information will enable the career counsellors to better explain RCAF careers to high school students.

Top Alberta Department of Education official on the tour is the Assistant Chief Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Sweet of Edmonton.

Teachers from northern Alberta left RCAF Station Namao via C-119 "Flying Boxcar" aircraft early Sunday morning. Other teachers boarded the aircraft in Calgary and should arrive at RCAF Station St. Hubert (Montreal) P.Q. just after midnight Sunday.

Monday, Aug. 24, the group toured the Personnel Selection Unit and the Manning Depot at Station St. Johns, P.Q. Tuesday College Militaire Royal were hosts to the western teachers before they boarded a C-119 for a flight along the St. Lawrence Seaway to Station Centralia and Thursday they visited the RCAF's Radar and Communications School at Clinton, Ont.

The teachers flew westwards Friday, arriving at Calgary at 5:05 MST and Edmonton at 7:05 p.m.

Those from Edmonton included Messrs. H. C. Sweet, G. L. Peers, I. Mallet, J. E. Hutton, J. W. Briggs, A. Cotsman, F. W. Samis, H. E. Shacker and A. R. Brown, all of Edmonton; H. C. McCall of Stony Plain, W. T. Worobets of Lamont, Wm. Soprovich of St. Albert, B. J. Strain of Stettler, Miss M. Knapp of Vermilion, J. Shakun of St. Paul. Miss J. Filipkowski of Vermilion, Mrs. Vera Clooney and Miss A. Lent, both of Edmonton.

New Hours Set For Country Liquor Stores

Alberta Liquor Control Board employees in towns and villages in the province will work a five-day, 40-hour week effective Sept. 14, chairman George A. Clash announced.

Liquor stores in the towns and villages will be closed for a full day each week, coinciding with the store closing day authorized by by the local councils.

The weekly closing day will not be observed when a statutory holiday or an election day falls on the day before or after the regular closing day. The staff in this case will be given equivalent time off later.

Employees in stores at Grande Prairie, Camrose, Wetaskiwin, Drumheller and Red Deer will continue to work a 5½-day week, pending arrangements to set up a five-day week.

Employees in other Alberta cities have been on a five-day week for some time.

49 Swedish Dailies Have Died In Decade

STOCKHOLM — The newspaper death has been the plague of the fifties. So far 49 newspaper names have disappeared from the list of Swedish daily newspapers in the last 10 years. The last one to succumb was Hallands Dagblad. The number of Swedish daily newspapers has dropped below the 200-mark.

Small newspapers with limited resources are hard hit. This is what happened to Hallands Dagblad in Halmstad. About seven years ago there were several small conservative newspapers in this area. They were all bought up by the conservative press association and amalgamated into one newspaper, Hallands Dagblad. But the new newspaper never reached a circulation of any amount, never more than 9,000 copies. Last year the conservative press association had had enough of it. The newspaper was sold to a local group, but they have also now found the going too heavy, and the cost too great.

Annexation Case Being Prepared

The city's case for annexation is being prepared with the help of Robert E. Moffat, a Winnipeg lawyer, who has taken over a vacant office in the city's legal department.

Mr. Moffat has been engaged as a consultant to work on estimating costs of running the city now and as it would be if Jasper Place, Beverly and portions of the Municipal Districts of Strathcona, Sturgeon River and Stony Plain added to it as proposed.

He is bringing up to date information presented in 1954 to the McNaily Royal Commisson prior to submitting it to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, which opens annexation hearings November 3.

Three weeks before the hearings, the information is to be submitted in order that representatives of other areas affected can study it.

Mr. Moffat was a member of a penel on administrative organization of metropolitan areas at the Canadian Bar Association convention this week at Vancouver.

Before settlers came to America, Indian bird lovers attracted martins to their teepees by attaching hollow gourd nesting boxes to tent poles.

Two Men Accused Of Gasoline Fraud

The RCMP court trial of two men charged with conspiring to defraud the provincial taxation branch continued with the presentation of defence evidence.

The trial of Vernon Thomas of Edmonton and Leo Zingle of Thorsby, Alta., opened last week. They are accused of conspiring to obtain about 750 gallons of gasoline from the British American oil refinery here April 6 without paying the government's 10-cent-a-gallon tax.

An official of the fuel oil taxation branch testified that under the act any dealer purchasing wholesale fuel from a refinery must pay the tax, unless the fuel is dyed purple for farm use. Purple gasoline is not taxable.

The dealer gets back the cost of the tax by adding it to the retail price of the fuel.

The fuel is dyed at the refinery.

Cpl. Edward Nolan of the RCMP testified he followed Zingle's tanker truck from the refinery to the accused's garage in Thorsby. At that time samples of the gasoline in the tanker's four chambers were taken.

Two samples contained the required amount of dye while the other two, representing about 750 gallons, contained practically no dye. The entire load of 1,300 gallons had been billed as purple gasoline.

Thomas was the "dye man" on duty at the refinery where Zingle purchased the fuel. Evidence showed that Thomas was paid two cents a gallon by Zingle to leave out the dye.

Health Through Chiropractic

ECZEMA

This disfiguring skin disease is usually attributed to (1) a skin abnormally sensitive to certain external influences, or (2) the elimination through the skin of toxic materials which have accummulated in the body and can find no other way out. The real cause in both cases is the same—the failure of some part or parts of the nervous system.

The skin has its special job to do to maintain the body in good health. The thousands of minute tissue cells which make up the skin are activated and are to do their job by the nerve energy which pulsates through countless thousands of nerve fibres. If the supply of this energy is cut off or reduced the skin is unable to do its job properly, and may react unfavorably to many things such as soap, cosmetics, dyes, or even water.

In the case of toxic materials being eliminated through the skin it will be found that the organs whose duty it is to look after these things have fallen down on the job, and forced nature to seek other methods of elimination. To correct such a condition it is necessary to find out which organs are not functioning properly. It will often be found that the spleen, whose job it is to engulf bacteria, has been weakened by an inadequate supply of nerve energy, and rendered incapable of destroying the toxic materials which must find an outlet somewhere —in this case the skin.

As has been pointed out time and again in this column the nervous system is the key to health. When all the organs and tissue cells of the body are being nourished by an adequate supply of nerve energy the entire body is healthy. If you suffer from eczema you will find that your best friend is your Chiropractor. He is specially trained to locate and remove any interference to the free flow of vital nerve energy. When the nervous system is operating fully and freely good health is assured.

Help yourself to health. See your Chiropractor.

REDWATER — The gift of a building, which will be remodelled by the Town of Redwater, and two lots between the Sparkle Dairy and the Redwater Utilities Duplex building, have been received by the Town of Redwater from Imprial Oil Ltd. The building when completed will be used to house the growing Redwater Libary which is presently bursting its shelves.

Frame Building Ravaged By Fire

REDWATER—A fire of unknown origin partially destroyed a frame building on 1st Avenue South

Passers by did not realise the building was on fire, thinking that the smoke drifting up from the rear was probably garbage burning. However, when the fire burst through the roof the fire department was alerted immediately.

The fire call was answered by Captain L. Troutman of the volunteers, due to the fact that the majority of the firemen were at a firemen's demonstration day at Vegreville. Assisting at the fire were volunteers Alex Konasewich, Oscar Olson and Steve Benko who had been taken on strength only two days before!

The fire was quickly brought under control by the men, and investigations made by the fire department revealed that it had started in the unlocked shed at the rear of the main building.

Old-Time Machine Threshes Barley

SMOKY LAKE — On Monday, Aug. 10, Fred Brodyk threshed the first truck-load of barley on his farm seven miles northeast of Smoky Lake.

It was the familar scene of the pioneer days on the Brodyk farm. He threshed this new crop with an old timers' 28-inch threshing machine, hauling the sheaves in by means of horse-drawn hay racks.

This 1959 grain will remain on the farm and be used for feed.

INNER POT FILLED WITH WATER
CUTTINGS POTTED UP IN SMALL POTS OF PEAT OR MANURE
TRANSPLANT EASILY LATER INTO LARGER POTS
OUTER POT FILLED WITH SAND

From now up until early September is a good time to root cuttings from houseplants. A simple method for the amateur to use in propagating a few cuttings from some choice plants is by the double pot method, illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Use two flower pots. Place gravel or broken crockery over the hole in the bottom of the larger pot, for this drainage hole must be kept open. Set the small pot into the larger one, as illustrated. Be sure to seal up the drainage hole in the smaller pot. A cork can be used for this purpose. Then fill the space between the pots with sand or a mixture of half sand and half finely sifted garden soil. Fill the smaller pot with water and keep it filled. Plant the cuttings in the sand-soil mixture in the larger pot, as illustrated.

The water which slowly seeps through the porus smaller pot keeps the sand moist, and no other watering is necessary.

When the cuttings are rooted, if they are planted in the small pots made of peat, manure or other such material, later they can be planted in a larger pot filled with soil without any disturbance to their root growth.

GOD'S THREE WAYS TO STOP BEING AFRAID

This letter came to my desk a short while ago. It was from a young woman, Miss M. P. of Rockford, Illinois:

"It is hard for me to explain the terrible fear that has tormented me all of my life. As a child I was afraid to be around people. When I had to go to school it was torture for me. Through all my school years I never associated nor played with the other pupils. I would often cry because I felt so depressed and lonely.

"This affliction has made my life miserable and unhappy.

"My sister recently said, 'Your fear is an ailment. You should be prayed for and delivered from it.' Is it possible that I can be set free?"

There are many who read this column who also suffer from the awful malady of fear. I wish to discuss with this young woman and each of you, "God's Three Ways To Stop Being Afraid."

What do you fear? Is it death, poverty, failure, criticism, sickness? Do you fear hurt or betrayal by your friends; are you afraid of old age? If fear possesses you, and you are unable to sleep or rest, you must realize that your unhappy attitude is caused by your wrong believing.

But God has a remedy. You can be totally free of fear. How? First, put your faith in control of your life. Know this: It is possible to live completely without fear because it is possible for us to believe right at all times.

There is an old fable that once a group of people came to the sun and said, "Sun, there is a place of midnight darkness on the earth where it is dark 24 hours a day."

The sun answered, "I will go and search for it." And so the sun searched and searched but could not find it. No wonder! There can be no darkness where the sun is.

Turn on a light in a room, and instantly the darkness is gone. Turn off the light and immediately the darkness returns. Why is this? It is because light is dominant over darkness. It is dominant just as long as you keep it in control. In the same way, faith and right believing are dominant over fear.

Second, identify the thing or things you fear. When you bring them out into the open, your faith can deal with them. Just to call the fear by its name will help. It is like an insect hiding under a flat rock. Lift the rock, expose the insect and it flees. Now take the cover off the thing you fear and you will be amazed to see that it is not as bad as you imagined.

Face your fears before they grow larger. The mask of mystery adds only to their control over you.

Third, practice the power of your faith in God daily. (This is the recommendation of Jesus himself. His own secret of happiness was, "fear not—only believe!") You will be then in the right frame of mind and spirit to courageously and intelligently deal with fear.

ALBERTA GIRLS who would like to have sailed the seven seas when pirates made life exciting probably picture themselves in such an attractive outfit life this. Martha Rae Williams is as pretty a buccaneer's belle as you will find and she looks ready to meet Captain Kidd at any time. No doubt he'd be ready to meet her, too, any time.

Mr. Taylor said nearly 200 miles of grading has been completed. In addition, contractors have carried out 120 miles of base course work, 97 miles of asphalt surfacing, and 138 miles of seal coating.
